WAGNER'S REVIEW

Morning Grain Letter.

Chicago, April 22.—Corn sentiment as shown in the printed newspaper opinions shows a great change. There is to be these levels and while no cumulative advance is ordained corn will be allowed and helped to bulge. Cash corn sales on Tuesday were large at 450,000. Our New York correspondents wire that while all hands in Chicago are working for a corn rally the eastern situation contains no bullishness. Failure of wheat to break seriously is winning friends. The necessity of liberal rains is hoped for.

There is also a tendency to hope for provision rallies. The general list is thus in a sturdier position. Any liquidation the July and September stuff into a bargain purchase May 1. Wheat complaints broadened yesterday, but newspapers do not give this proper attention, nor are they discussing the moisture of 1914. We do not think grain advances will be cumulative, but believe there is a purchasing tone which will improve. Cables are higher, and this gives our market a chance to adopt a more confident tone. Twenty reports arrived first mail today. Wheat in Illinois doing fairly well, but many complaints of too dry from Illinois and Indiana. Oats being slowly seeded.

Farm work 10 days to two weeks late.

No damage to wheat by freeze is reported.

Drift of the Weather.

Illinois—Generally fair in north; unsettled in south and west tonight and Thursday, with probably showers; cooler tonight.

Missouri, Kansas and Iowa—Unsettled tonight and Thursday; probably showers.

Minnesota—Generally fair in east; unsettled in west tonight and Thursday; probably showers; warmer in east and central tonight.

South Dakota—Unsettled tonight and Thursday; probably showers and warmer tonight.

Liverpool Situation.

Liverpool, April 22.—Steadier American cables yesterday and firmer Manitoba offers caused some covering at opening here and values were ½ to ¾ higher. Following the opening the market was dull with some disposition for speculative profits, but an improved demand from the continent and a better inquiry for Australians helped to hold market steady. Much apprehension is felt here regarding light shipments from the southern hemisphere and India, and this is emphasized by the fact that the shipments from this quarter last week were 6,000,000 bushels smaller than a year ago. At 1:30 the market was dull.

Corn opened higher and July gained a further ½ with undertone steady. Firmer plate offerings, steady American cables and an improved demand here prompted shorts to cover.

Grain List Awaits May Adjustments.
Chicago, April 22.—The accumulation of Chicago cellar supplies to around the highest totals in a five-year period against May 1 still burdens provision prices. Lard stores will increase during the summer. Pork amounts are below 1912, but in a general way the supply totals remind of 1912 when July ribs and lard sold near 10c in May and July pork touched $18.00.

By tacit consent of general sentiment corn now enters debatable ground. The necessity of a drag to lower levels is illogical. The markets will struggle during the next sessions with the encumbrance of May delivery news and adjustments.

The market might enter May at around these levels, but corn is still suffering from loss of bull prestige. In its role of an abandoned cereal it does not promise wonderful rallies.

September oats near 35 cents are on an economic bedrock level. At current prices they represent a new 1,200,000,000 crop in much the same degree that September wheat at 85 represents a 750,000,000 wheat crop. On the 1,120,000,000 oats crop of 1913 September oats expired around 41c.

Prior to completion of May deliveries the grains may fail to uncover strong permanent rallies. The Mexican combination is considered favorable to cotton, but without effect on the grains. Blockade and not war is intended and the newspapers are foolishly premature.

February rail operations as announced have decidedly unfavorable flavor in the "net" results. The steel industry is at so low an ebb that some improvements seem certain. Six percent is too high an interest burden for railroads to carry on notes and heavy renewals of this class lie ahead.

Wheat complaints broadened today. To date west Kansas, west Nebraska, northern Indiana and parts of north-west Ohio are the complainers. Indiana reports of freeze, fly and drought effects are steady. The wheat crop of 1914 will evidently not escape the usual May fears.
